

Saturn
Jerwood Room
Lady Margaret Hall
Oxford University
02.2009

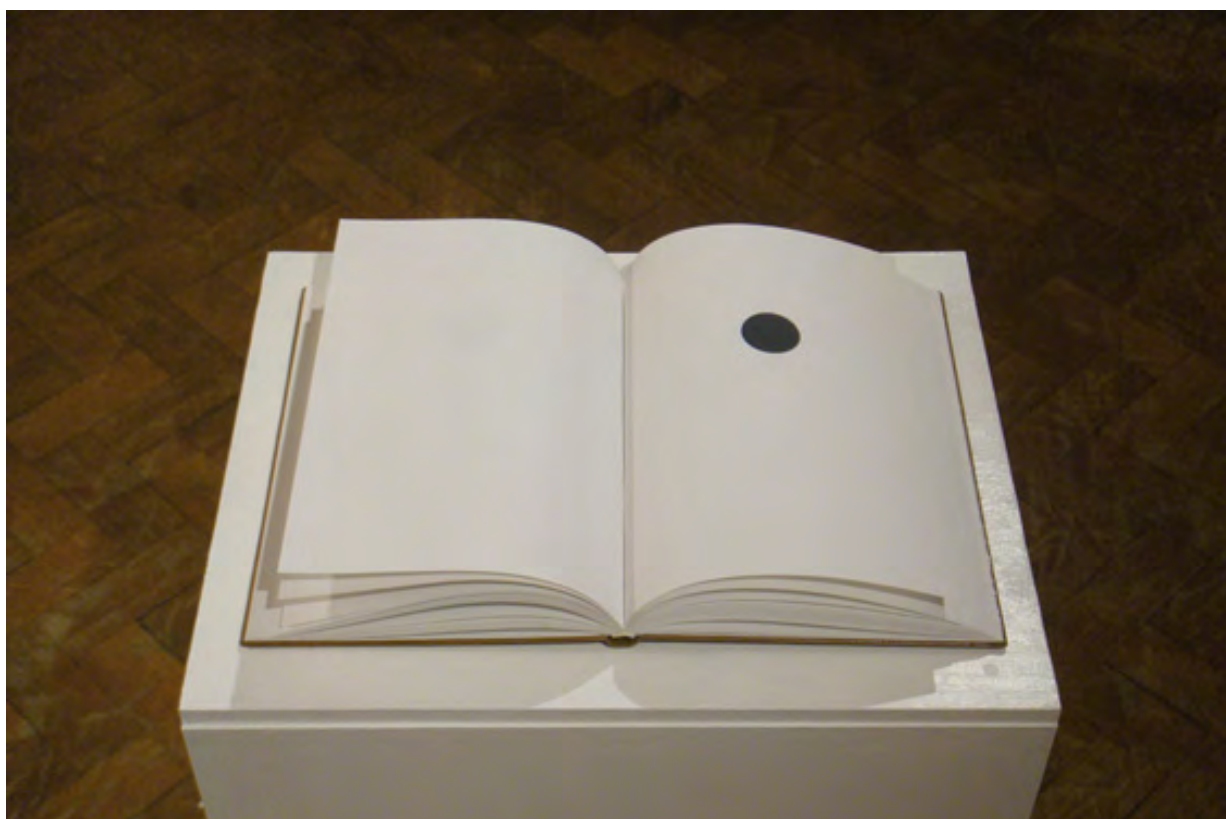

The exhibition is made of two parts. A set of eight photographs is positioned in equal distances on the walls creating a circular shape. The midpoint of the space is defined by a plinth holding a book. The book suggests a sphere in its centre - on each of the pages a black dot is printed which is gradually increasing in size reaching its maximum in the middle of the book, then decreasing again. Saturn was shown in February 2009 in the Jerwood Room, Lady Margaret Hall in Oxford.

Installation view Jerwood Room

Exhibition sketch Saturn

Untitled (13.10.2008), 2009
Book, Edition 3 + AP, 28 x 19.5 cm

A leather bound book which consists of pages with dots in their centre.
The dot increases from the first page throughout the book with its peak in the centre, then decreasing in size until eventually disappearing on the last pages.

Installation view Jerwood Room, February 2009

Installation view Jerwood Room, February 2009

Tales 13 (Miami Beach, Florida, December 2008), 2009
Series of eight photographs, 20x 25cm

Tales (Miami Beach, Florida, December 2008), 2009
Series of photographs, each 17 x 12 cm

Tales (Miami Beach, Florida, December 2008), 2009
Series of photographs, each 17 x 12 cm

Tales (Miami Beach, Florida, December 2008), 2009
Series of photographs, each 17 x 12 cm

Tales (Miami Beach, Florida, December 2008), 2009
Series of photographs, each 17 x 12 cm

Tales (Miami Beach, Florida, December 2008), 2009
Series of photographs, each 17 x 12 cm

Tales (Miami Beach, Florida, December 2008), 2009
Series of photographs, each 17 x 12 cm

Tales (Miami Beach, Florida, December 2008), 2009
Series of photographs, each 17 x 12 cm

Tales (Miami Beach, Florida, December 2008), 2009
Series of 3 photographs, each 17 x 12 cm